In 1947 the Regents of the University of California authorized the establishment of a School of Law on the Los Angeles campus and the Legislature of the State appropriated funds for the construction of a Law School building. The first class was accepted in 1949 while the School was located in temporary quarters on the campus. The building was completed in 1952, and in 1960 a new wing was added, giving the School modern and spacious study facilities. The School is a member of the Association of American Law Schools and is on the appended list of the American Bar Association. Members of the student body are drawn from all over the country, and graduates of the school are qualified to become applicants for admission to practice in any state of the United States.

The School of Law is designed to produce lawyers well prepared for the various private and public roles which are assigned to members of the legal profession. An understanding of the rules and forms of law is primary and essential. But more than that is required. Effective participation in the legal profession has always demanded an appreciation of the social context in which legal institutions are made and shaped, and of the uses of law in the instrument of guided change. The School of Law is committed to these goals, first in carrying out its instructional program, and also in serving as a center for legal-social research. Legal institutions throughout the community—and in our time the community is world-wide—are subjected to continued scrutiny both by the School's faculty and by its students. In teaching as well as research, the School of Law draws upon the resources of scholars in the social sciences and other disciplines. UCLA seeks to produce lawyers alive to their unique and weighty responsibilities as members of an old and learned profession, dedicated as much to the protection of individual freedom as to "these wise restraints that make men free."

THE LAW LIBRARY

The Law Library is a growing collection of more than 200,000 volumes, selected to further the course of instruction, familiarity with the use of source materials needed in the practice, and general legal research. Central to the Library's collection—as to our common law system—are reports of decided cases in the fifty states, the Federal Courts, and the British Commonwealth, together with the digests which give access to these decisions. Next in number as well as importance are statutes of these jurisdictions, along with the administrative rulings and interpretation of daily concern in specialized fields such as taxation. The Library's substantial collection of legal treatises covers the period from Medieval England through the latest commentaries on uniform laws, supplemented by current periodical literature. Some materials are available to promote the widest range of the student's inquiry, whether in legal history, Roman law, or the philosophy of law.
Admission to the School

PREPARATION FOR THE STUDY OF LAW

The School does not prescribe any fixed pre-law course. Successful study of law is more often related to an acquired habit of disciplined work with difficult intellectual problems than to the possession of any special body of facts. Certain general objectives of a pre-legal education can, however, be given. The Association of American Law Schools has stated three objectives under these broad headings: education for comprehension and expression in words, education for critical understanding of human institutions and values, and education for creative power and thinking. The skills, understanding and cultural foundation encompassed in these statements can be gained from many fields of study. The law is peculiarly a discipline where every branch of knowledge will prove useful to the student and the practitioner. The best courses for pre-law study vary with the school at which the pre-law degree is taken, and students are urged to seek local advice.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION TO THE FIRST-YEAR CLASS

Applicants for admission to the professional curriculum of the School of Law, leading to the degree of Juris Doctor, must have received the baccalaureate degree from a university or college of approved standing prior to the time at which they begin their work in the School of Law. Such college work must have been of superior quality and must indicate that the applicant is qualified for the study of law. The School of Law receives more applications from qualified applicants than it can accept and admission is on a competitive basis. Applications for admission in September 1969 must be filed no later than May 1, 1969. Applicants must have achieved a satisfactory score on the Law School Admission Test. Students beginning their professional work are admitted only in September.

LAW SCHOOL ADMISSION TEST

The School of Law cooperates with the Educational Testing Service and with other law schools in the development and administration of a uniform Law School Admission Test. The test is designed to measure aptitude for professional study and to enable the School of Law to learn something of the writing ability and general liberal arts background of the applicant. No special preparation for the test is necessary. Contexts where the test may be taken have been established for the convenience of applicants in all parts of the country. The test is required of all applicants for admission to this School and should be taken during the academic year preceding the one for which admission is sought. The Educational Testing Service will supply each applicant with a bulletin of information giving details with respect to administration and including practice questions. All questions concerning the Law School Admission Test should be addressed to the Educational Testing Service, Box 944, Princeton, New Jersey 08540.

Application Procedure

Application and Official Transcripts

The application for admission to the School of Law should be made on a form supplied by the School. Official transcripts of all college, university, and professional school records, including all work which may have been done at the University of California, Los Angeles, should be sent to the Admissions and Records Office, School of Law, University of California, 405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles, California 90024. Actual receipt by the School of Law not later than May 1, 1969, of the application, the Law School Admission Test score, and official transcripts through the fall semester or winter quarter, as applicable, is the applicant's responsibility. Applicants will be notified when all the records necessary for a decision on admission have been received. Admission is granted on a competitive basis with the principal emphasis being placed on the score in the Law School Admission Test and the last two years of undergraduate study.

Application Fee

Each candidate for admission to the School of Law must pay an application fee of $10. Remittance by bank draft or money order should be made payable to The Regents of the University of California, and should accompany the application. Applicants who submit evidence of having paid an application fee at the graduate level elsewhere in the University need not pay this fee.

Law School Admission Test

Applicants may receive forms and information concerning the Law School Admission Test from the Educational Testing Service, Box 944, Princeton, New Jersey 08540. The Law School Admission Test will be given on the following dates: February 8, 1969; April 12, 1969; August 3, 1969. Applications, together with the examination fee of $12, must be received in Princeton at least two weeks prior to the date of the test. The applicant should request on his application that his score be reported to this School. Applicants are urged to take the November test in order to expedite the decision on their admission to the School.

English Language Test

Applicants for admission whose collegiate education has been undertaken in countries where English is not the language usually spoken may be required to submit evidence of competence in English. In appropriate instances the Test of English as a Foreign Language administered by TOEFL, 1755 Massachusetts Avenue, Washington, D.C. 20036, or the "Examination for the Certificate of Proficiency in English" administered by the English Language Institute, University of Michigan, North University Building, Ann Arbor, Michigan, will be employed. Applicants will be advised by the Law School if testing is deemed necessary.
Honor System

Any person admitted to the UCLA School of Law is required to abide by the Honor System as set out below.

ADMISSION TO ADVANCED STANDING

Applicants who have completed at least one year (30 semester units or 45 quarter hours) of satisfactory work in another law school may be candidates for admission with advanced standing, with credit for not more than one year (30 semester units or 45 quarter hours) of professional work if:

1. The applicant has received his baccalaureate degree from a university or college of approved standing;
2. Two semesters or three quarters of professional work in regular session, or their equivalent, have been undertaken in a school which is a member of the Association of American Law Schools; and
3. He received no credit toward his baccalaureate degree for the professional work for which he seeks credit for advanced standing in this School. The acceptance of a candidate for advanced standing and the amount of credit to be allowed for his previous professional work are discretionary. Credit will not be given for unsatisfactory though passing work. Candidates must furnish this School with official transcripts of their college as well as all their law school work. Application for admission to advanced standing may be made at any time, subject to the dates noted below, but a decision on these applications can be made only after the receipt of these official transcripts. In general, a B average is required for admission with advanced standing.

No applicant will be admitted as a candidate for a degree who has attended another law school and who is ineligible to return to that school in good standing. A letter is required from the dean of the law school previously attended, stating that the applicant is eligible for readmission.

No application for admission to advanced standing in 1969 will be accepted after August 31, 1969.

FEES AND EXPENSES

Each student in the School of Law pays each quarter, when registering, a Registration fee of $100 charged all graduate students in all departments of the University, plus a Student Union fee of $4 and a fee of $1.50 for membership in the Graduate Students Association.

A nonresident of the State of California pays a fee of $505 per quarter in addition to the fees listed in the above paragraph.

Refund of a part of the Registration fee (and of the nonresident tuition fee, if paid) is made to a student who withdraws from the University within four weeks from the first day of classes.

No claim for refund of fees will be considered unless such claim is presented during the fiscal year to which the fee is applicable. No student will be en-
THE JURIS DOCTOR DEGREE

Residence and Unit Requirements

The candidate for the degree of Juris Doctor must have pursued resident law school study for nine quarters. The residence requirements may be satisfied as follows:

1. Nine quarters in regular session in this School, or
2. Three quarters in regular session, or their equivalent, in a school which is a member of the Association of American Law Schools; coupled with six quarters in regular session, or their equivalent, in this School.

The candidate for the degree must have completed satisfactorily at least 127 units (quarter hours) of work with an average grade of not less than 65 on all work undertaken in this School. In order to receive unit credit for summer session work undertaken in another law school, a student must have a grade average of 70 or better in all work undertaken in this School. In no event may a candidate for the degree be credited with more than 45 units (quarter hours) of credit for work undertaken in another law school.

Every first-year student is required to take the full schedule of required courses; every second- and third-year student is required to take a minimum of twelve hours and may not take more than sixteen hours each quarter. These rules apply to all students whether or not they have attended Summer Session.

Satisfactory completion of the First Year Moot Court program is required for graduation. Satisfactory completion of the program shall be determined by the Moot Court Honor Board with the concurrence of the Faculty Advisor to the Moot Court. This requirement does not apply to transfer students, but such students may enroll in the First Year Moot Court program if they wish to do so.

Study in Other Departments

Candidates for the J.D. degree are permitted to take two upper-division or graduate level courses in UCLA departments other than the School of Law for which Law School credit will be allowed provided that:

1. The student has not already taken the same or a similar course;
2. The course is not similar in content to courses offered in the Law School; and
3. The course is offered in UCLA regular session.

They will usually be taken on a pass-fail basis. The grade actually received will be recorded on the student’s Law School permanent record card but not included in the computation of the law school average.

The opportunity to take non-law courses for credit makes it possible for some students to be awarded both the J.D. and the M.A. degrees at the end of four years combined study in the School of Law and another department.

Scholarship and Attendance Requirements

ATTENDANCE AND GRADES

The right to take examinations, as well as the privilege of continuing as a student in the School of Law, is conditioned upon regular attendance at the exercises of the School and adherence to the Honor System.

Following is the grading scale of the School of Law:

85 and above—A, or excellent and definitely superior
70 to 84 incl.—B, or good and above average
65 to 74 incl.—C, or average and satisfactory
55 to 64 incl.—D, or poor
Below 55—Failure

UNSATISFACTORY PERFORMANCE

A student must maintain a minimum average grade of 65 during each year of law school. In addition, he must maintain a cumulative average of 65 to be computed at the end of his fifth quarter and at the end of each succeeding quarter.

Failure to maintain the minimum average grade will result in dismissal. However, a student who has finished his first year with an average between 64 and 65 will be permitted to continue on probation. A student on probation must raise his cumulative average to 65 or above at the end of his fifth quarter, and must otherwise comply with the requirements of the preceding paragraph.

For the above purposes, “year” means the first three quarters and each successive three quarters of work. “Quarter” means any quarter including a summer quarter in which the student takes a sufficient number of units to meet the residency requirements.

Honor System

An Honor Code has been established by the Student Bar Association of the University of California, Los Angeles, School of Law to promote among its membership a sense of individual responsibility, integrity and honor worthy of the high standards of conduct and morals which govern the legal profession. Its intent is to confirm and foster the period of law school training the same standards of conduct, where relevant, that will pertain in future professional life.

Each student enrolling in the School of Law is required to indicate (in writing) his willingness to abide by the Honor Code expressed in terms of the following pledge:

Mindful that, as students preparing to enter the profession of law, we are governed in our educational activities by the same high standards of conduct and morals which govern our future profession, I hereby agree to abide by the spirit of Canon 29 of the American Bar Association, which states:

Lawyers should expose without fear or favor before the proper tribunals corrupt or dishonest conduct in the profession. . . . The lawyer should aid in guarding the Bar against the admission to the profession of candidates unfit or unqualified because deficient in either moral character or education. He should at all times strive to uphold the honor and to maintain the dignity of the profession and to improve not only the law but the administration of justice.

Breaches of the conduct prescribed by the Honor Code are considered to be a serious professional misconduct and are dealt with accordingly. A Student Honor Committee administers the Honor Code and conducts all necessary proceedings attendant thereto with a view to effective operation of the Code. Copies of the Honor Code are available in the office of the Associate Dean, School of Law, University of California, 405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles, California 90024.

Outside Employment
The faculty of the School of Law affirms as fundamental educational policy that outside employment of students either of a legal or any other nature is discouraged. The curriculum of the School requires the full time of students. Outside work can never be pleaded to seek an adjustment in a student’s schedule of classes or to justify inadequate academic performance.

Faculty Right to Require Withdrawal or Refuse Degree
Whenever the faculty is informed of facts which, in its opinion, indicate that a student’s continuance in the School would not be in the School’s best interests or that he is not a person of such character or integrity as to be qualified for admission to the legal profession, it may require the student to withdraw at any time or refuse to award him a degree even though in all other respects he is in good standing.

Five-Year Rule
The maximum amount of elapsed time permitted between first admission to this School of Law, or to any law school from which advanced standing is sought, and graduation shall be five (5) years.

GRADUATE STUDY
A two-year program leading to the degree of Master of Laws (LL.M.) and a one-year program leading to the degree of Master of Comparative Law (M.C.L.) are available. The focus of both programs is the study of the role of law and legal institutions in development problems with particular reference to the developing countries of Africa and Latin America.

Candidates for the LL.M. degree are limited to those who have already received the J.D. or equivalent degree. Preference will be given to those who have a career interest in the field of law and development. The program of study typically involves two quarters in residence at UCLA, followed by four quarters in an African or Latin American country during which the candidates are attached to an institution in the host country such as a university or government office, and concludes with two more quarters in residence at UCLA.

Candidates for the M.C.L. degree are limited to foreign-trained lawyers from Africa or Latin America. This program requires three quarters in residence at UCLA and the satisfactory completion of 36 quarter units (including thesis).

Further information concerning the L.L.M. and M.C.L. programs is available upon request from the Office of the Associate Dean, University of California School of Law, 405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles, California 90024.
Student Honors Organizations

THE UCLA LAW REVIEW

Membership on the UCLA Law Review is one of the most coveted honors available to exceptionally qualified students. The work of the UCLA Law Review presents an opportunity for experience in legal research and writing on a par with that which is done in the better legal offices in the practice of law. The caliber of the work done by the first-year law student determines his eligibility for invitation to participate in the UCLA Law Review work in his second and third years. However, students who have transferred to UCLA from other law schools as well as those whose first year was spent at UCLA will also be considered for invitations to become candidates on the Review after receipt of grades for the Winter Quarter of their second year.

The regular subscription rate is $10.00 per year, and it is recommended that all students subscribe. Further information may be obtained by addressing the Administrative Assistant, UCLA Law Review, School of Law, University of California, Los Angeles, California 90024.

ROSCOE POUND COMPETITION

The Roscoe Pound Moot Court Honors Program is a student organization that strives to foster the ideal of the scholarly advocate typified by the jurist whose name it bears. Each year a select group of students from the second- and third-year classes who combine academic achievement with demonstrated ability in oral and written argumentation are invited to join in a series of appellate arguments as counsel and judge.

All first-year students compete in the preparation and argument of one appellate case before a bench consisting of present members of the program. Those who achieve the highest standing in the first-year competition and who meet the academic requirements of the program are invited to membership. In their second and third years, members compete in further hearings to select the UCLA representatives for state and national competition.

Second- and third-year hearings are judged by distinguished members of the bench and bar. Membership in Moot Court, therefore, affords a unique opportunity for contact with the practicing profession in an atmosphere simulating actual appellate practice.

ORDER OF THE COF

A chapter of the Order of the Coif, a national law school honor society, has been established in the School of Law. Election to membership in the Order of the Coif is limited to those graduating members of the senior class who rank in the highest 10 per cent of the class in scholarship.
Student Activities

A variety of programs which involve the entire student body of the School of Law are conducted under the sponsorship of the Student Bar Association. This Association is composed of all students registered in the School of Law. The governing and policy making body of the Association, the Executive Committee, is composed of 13 members, elected or appointed, who represent a broad spectrum of student activities.

The Community Participation Center is a student organization which provides law students with an effective means whereby they can express their concern with the problems of contemporary society in terms of active participation in areas of particularly urgent social need. The Center operates as an umbrella-like organization which supports a variety of community-oriented law student involvement programs and as such functions much like a program servicing unit. The Center actively encourages the initiation of imaginative new problems and activities to ensure their viability.

The UCLA Docket, published by the Association, is the newspaper of the students of the School of Law. It draws its membership from all three classes. Staff membership offers experience in writing, reporting and editing for a legal publication. The Docket is published monthly during the academic year and has been awarded the highest recognition among law school newspapers. Circulation is to all students, faculty and alumni, as well as to prominent members of the legal community. Articles range from coverage of significant events within the School of Law to interviews with local jurists and practitioners. Advancement to responsible editorial positions is based primarily on performance of staff assignments and duties.

A vital activity sponsored by the Student Bar Association is the Legal Forum. Under the auspices of the Forum, outstanding speakers in a variety of legal and law-related areas are invited to the School of Law to speak and to participate with students in seminars and conferences.

The Student Bar Association performs other important roles in integrating a student into the legal community at the School of Law. The Association's efforts are felt from the outset of a student's legal education when he attends the Association-conducted orientation program until completion of his education three years later when he attends his commencement exercises. During that time he will have attended Association-sponsored picnics and dinner-dances, faculty-student coffee hours and other informal get-togethers or taken part in one of the many Association-sponsored programs.

There are three law fraternities represented at the School of Law, Phi Alpha Delta, Phi Delta Delta, and Phi Delta Phi. They serve to promote student fellowship and an understanding and dedication to the tradition of the legal profession.

Student Services

STUDENT PRIVILEGES

Payment of the regular fees entitles the student at the School of Law to Student Health Service, and to the use of the libraries, gymnasiums, tennis courts, swimming pools, and other University facilities. It also makes such a student eligible to membership in the Associated Students of the University, subject to the payment of that organization's dues. Such dues give him the right to admission to certain athletic contests and to other student activities.

STUDENT HEALTH SERVICE

The purpose of the Student Health Service is to conserve the time of students for their classwork and studies, by preventing and treating acute illnesses. Each registered UCLA student may, at need, have such consultations and medical care or dispensary treatment on the campus as the Student Health Service is staffed and equipped to provide, from the time of payment of his registration fee to the last day of the current semester.

The Health Service does not take responsibility for certain chronic physical defects or illnesses present at the time of entrance to the University.

LIVING ACCOMMODATIONS

Information concerning available accommodations for both married and single students (including, for single students, accommodations in University dormitories) may be obtained at the Housing Office, Room 181 Kerckhoff Hall, 405 Hilgard Avenue, Los Angeles, California 90024.

OFFICE OF SPECIAL SERVICES

The Office of Special Services functions administratively in matters pertaining to veterans' and veterans' dependents' educational benefits, selective service obligation, and assistance to physically disabled students. The Office also provides guidance counseling to students in the many complexities and technical problems related to veterans' benefits and to their service obligations and rights.

The Office aids law students subject to the Selective Service law in dealing with local draft boards and processes the requests of student reservists for verification of Law School registration. Special advice and assistance are extended to veterans in securing applicable benefits.

The Special Services Office is located in Room A-253, Administration Building.

PLACEMENT

The Placement Office of the School of Law brings many professional opportunities to the attention of its students and graduates. Through the office arrangements are made for interviews with representatives of local and national law firms, business firms, government agencies and others. Although the school cannot guarantee a position for each graduate, ample employment opportunities are made available.

STUDENT COUNSELING SERVICES

The University Counseling Services are designed primarily for the voluntary use of any regularly enrolled student. They offer the student the opportunity, on his own initiative, to consider with a counselor any questions, concerns, skills, hopes, dilemmas, crises, or choices that may occur during his course of study. There is no charge for these services. The Services are found on three locations:

The Counseling Center (Administration 3334) offers individual and group counseling to assist students in coping with any concerns or difficulties that may be interfering with their effectiveness at the University or may be involved in their continued growth. Marriage and premarital counseling is available. Counseling is private and confidential; no records of interviews are kept.

The Reading and Study Service (Social Welfare 271) offers individual and group programs designed to assist students in the development of reading and study skills, and habits appropriate to the demands of their University studies. Counseling and instructional staff is available.

The Educational and Career Information Service (Administration 3337) maintains an extensive collection of current materials concerning occupations, colleges, universities and professional schools. These materials are for use by students as an aid in better informing themselves when making educational and career decisions.
